COTTON MARKETS.

New York, November 10.—The cotton market recovered most of yesterday's loss during to-day's trading, for while scattering liquidation continued, the offerings were not so heavy and were readily absorbed by a demand from foreign and domestic tradication in the covering and buil support, inspired by the firm showing of the cables and private advice from Liverpool, attributing the strength there to the firmness of Southern markets and the activity of Euronean trade. Offerings increased on the bulge, nearly all of the large wire and commission houses having selling orders, presumably for long account, and prices eased of 7 or 8 points from the best in consequence. There was a good demand from trade interests and foreign sources on a scale down however, and while there appeared to be nothing fresh in the way of news developments the market firmed up sgain in the later trading on the time at the ports was continued discussion of the census figures and nothing developed during the day to indicate any general change of views as to their relation to the total crop Southern spot markets officially reported early were unchanged to 1-16c higher. Private cally were unchanged to 1-16c higher. Private called the principles of that Hussis expects a humper crop of about 1000,000 bales.

Receipts of cotton at the ports to-day were filled that the search of the total crop southers against $250.50 is just week and $77.35 losts and selected from $250.50 in the time of the content of the conte by the farmers of the United States during this year. In a general review of crop conditions, issued to-day, the Bureau of Statistics of the Department of Agriculture, says:

"The harvests of 1910 have been practically completed, with results exceeding the expectations during the growing period. Preliminary estimates have been made of the production of most of the important crops, from which it appears that the aggregate production of crops in 1910 is approximately 7.6 per cent. greater than the average annual production of the preceding five years. Prices for important crops averaged on November 1 about 5.4 per cent. lower than a year ago.

"The production of other crops in 1910 is approximately 7.6 per cent. greater than the average annual production of the preceding five years. Prices for important crops averaged on November 1 about 5.4 per cent. lower than a year ago.
